Teaching and Learning

The course is taught through a diverse mix of learning environments including tutor-led, independent student-led and group projects. Lectures, workshops/seminars and group project work account for 12 hours of contact time per week and you will spend at least as much time again in essential independent study including research, online work and preparation for assessment. Guest speakers and real life case studies broaden knowledge of the industry and ensure graduates are work-ready and informed of the latest developments in the field.

Assessment

You will be assessed through a mix of coursework and examinations, all of which aim to assess not only what you know and can do but also develop the graduate attributes that are valued by employers. These attributes include communication and presentation skills, IT and numeracy skills, team work, project and time management skills as well as the intellectual skills of problem solving, critical thinking, analysis and evaluation, creativity and innovation.

Coursework comes in many different forms: essays and reports, business plans and applied research projects, portfolios and weekly notes, assessed group and individual presentations and posters. You will also be required to reflect and comment on your own learning and personal development.

Enrolment and Duration

This 3 year full time programme comprises of 23 core modules. Each year commences in late September or in some cases, early October and runs for a period of 32 weeks. Students may enrol up to 2 weeks before the course starting date however, early enrolment is advised as places are limited.

Entry Requirements

Candidates must be at least 17 years of age by 1st September of the year they wish to enter onto the course and must hold a Secondary School Diploma or Foundation Diploma/ Certificate or equivalent. You will also be required to be proficient in the English Language.

Graduation Requirements

To achieve the BA(Hons) degree, you must complete all modules (360 credits). If, for any reason, you are unable to complete the full course you may qualify for a Certificate or Diploma providing you have completed the minimum number of required credits. (See 'Course Structure')

Where Next?

The high-level demand for graduates with this degree makes it an ideal launch pad for a career in finance, management, accountancy, marketing and human resources in both private and public sector organisations. Our graduates leave with crucial business skills, diverse career paths and valuable knowledge and experience of real business environments to thrive in a competitive job market with a fast-paced, ever-changing global economy. Many students continue their studies on either the MSc Business Management course or the MBA course which has a Management and Procurement pathway. Due to the flexible nature of this course, students may enter employment in conjunction with their studies.
